

Entry 165: Interview

Directions	<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. Starting with your five best questions, interview your partner.2. Take accurate notes so you'll remember what he or she said.3. Good writing includes memorable quotations. Be sure to record a few choice responses word for word.
Notes	Record accurate notes here. Remember to include some exact quotations.
Impressions	What did you learn about the person that he or she did not tell you. For example: "she seems shy" or "he love to talk"
Question Evaluation	Which questions allowed you to get the best information? Why do you think so?
Follow up Questions	Now that you have some information about your partner, you can write some questions focused on this person's particular interests. Write five open-ended follow-up questions for your partner.